

SCHOOLS — ELECTRONIC SPEED ZONE SIGNS

1. 771. Hon KEN TRAVERS to the minister representing the Minister for Transport:

- (1) Has the Minister for Transport approved a list of schools that will receive 40-kilometre-an-hour flashing signs this year?
- (2) If yes to (1), will the minister table a list of those schools?
- (3) Who selected the schools to receive the signs?
- (4) Will the minister table the criteria used to select the schools?

Hon SIMON O'BRIEN replied:

I thank the honourable member for notice of this question.

The Minister for Transport advises that the Liberal–National government has a strong track record of delivering road safety outcomes for the community. At the end of the 2011–12 financial year, some 82 school zone sites had been treated, 75 of which occurred under the Liberal–National government. This year's program will see an additional 61 school zones treated—double the number delivered in the last financial year—as a direct result of the Liberal–National government's decision to spend 100 per cent of red-light and speed camera collections on road safety projects.

- (1)–(2) The member is advised that a list is available to the public on the government media statement website—www.mediastatements.wa.gov.au.
- (3) A recommended program was provided by Main Roads and approved by the Minister for Transport.
- (4) The member should refer to his previous question without notice 602 asked on 17 August 2011, as this information has already been provided.
