

"I am a new temporary resident of Australia, originating from Kenya where our health system and emergency services certainly not to standard, if available at all. And I trained in Kenya with what we call our emergency services. ONE ambulance is likely to service a large area, with it rarely being positioned closely. While I have not personally needed a St. John ambulance, I know those that have. Their experiences were good, and they felt grateful to the paramedics who assisted them. From my perspective, St. John's reputation and delivery are impeccable. Let's keep it this way."
