

I am writing to the Committee as a previous long term resident of Paraburdoo and former volunteer for St John Paraburdoo SC. St John is deeply embedded in the communities in the northwest. They trust St John. Because these towns are built on a foundation of passionate volunteers already living and working in their communities that they serve. To hand over emergency ambulance service to anyone else will only increase response times in remote areas and put our communities at risk.