Hi Carolyn,

This gentleman also phoned me.

His issue is that Eventscorp/One Movement promised patronage and audience verbally to a certain level (not in writing) and did not deliver.

My argument is that the "economic benefits analysis" undertaken by Eventscorp does not factor in losses that West Australians make from being involved in the event.

If stallholders had been made aware of the audit advice that One Movement Pty Ltd was not a "going concern" and not in compliance with the Corporations Act, they may have been able to make an informed decision about participating. Eventscorp had a duty to WA businesses to ensure they were fully informed.

Troy has said he'd be happy to talk to the committee if you were going to look at this avenue.

Also, I spoke to WAMI CEO Paul Bodlovich. He said to me that while WAMI had not put in a written submission to the Committee, he expected that he would be called to give evidence.

Regards,
John

(email from my office regarding Troy's details. I followed up and spoke to him personally on April 18, 2011.)

Hi

Had a guy called "Troy" from Food Republic on the phone, heard you on radio about One Movement. He had a catering stall at the thing and says he lost about $10,000 and asks if there is an inquest into it!. Says there was too many caterers there and they were told to prepare for 20,000 people. They were charged $1500 for their spot.

First day he reckons 600 people turned up, second day 1300. Coffee guy next to him did not even show on the second day, still had to pay.

He has receipts for lost/spoilt stock of between $7 and $9,000. He said he was nervous calling (how sweet!) as he had never done any complaining about government before, never had to!

Happy to have a chat to you
Sylvia ☺
