4371. Mr W.R. Marmion to the Deputy Premier; Minister for Health; Mental Health:

- (1) Can the Minister confirm that the Australian Drinking Water Guideline (ADWG) for the safe content of lead in drinking water is based upon weekly tests on infants and is derived to be an average of no more than 0.010 milligrams/litre consumed per day and is identical to the World Health Organisation (WHO) standard?
- (2) Can the Minister confirm that because of unavoidable fluctuations in lead concentration in water due to many factors, including; diameter of plumbing fittings, volume of initial test sample taken, time sample was taken, variation in scheme water quality, cathodic action due to bi-metal conditions, microbiological activity and temperature, that the WHO adopted a safe average level for lead concentration instead of a maximum level?
- (3) Is the Minister aware that the United States Environmental Protection Authority (EPA) utilise a different method to the WHO in order to account for statistical scatter and instead of a daily average have adopted a 90 percentile approach whereby “not more than 10% of samples can exceed the US value of 0.015 mg/L”:
 - (a) is the Minister aware that the US EPA also addresses the method of taking samples and the regulations specify that all tap samples shall be first draw samples and all first draw samples shall be 1 litre in volume and have stood motionless in the plumbing system of each sample site for at least 6 hours?
- (4) Can the Minister confirm that the WA Health Department took 606 water samples from the Perth Children’s Hospital in June and July 2017 and that the average lead content of these samples was 0.0072 mg/L with a standard deviation of 0.0066:
 - (a) can the Minister also confirm that each sample size taken was 125 millilitres and that 6% of samples exceeded 0.015 mg/L?
- (5) If the Minister cannot confirm the information in (4), what are the correct values arising from the analysis of the 606 samples taken?
- (6) In relation to answers to (4) and (5), can the Minister confirm that using either the ADWG safe average daily lead intake per volume of water consumed methodology or the US EPA testing methodology, the Perth Children’s Hospital met both safe water quality standards based on the 606 samples taken, despite sample size being 125mls rather than 1 litre?
- (7) In relation to the final lead testing undertaken in 2018, following replacement of a substantial number of the brass fittings, involving 304 test samples, can the Minister confirm that from these test results the average lead content in the Perth Children’s Hospital is now 0.0034 mg/L with a standard deviation of 0.0027 and with only 2 samples of the 304 exceeding 0.015 mg/L (<1%)?
- (8) If the Minister cannot confirm the information in (7) what are the correct figures arising from the analysis of the 304 samples taken?
- (9) Can the Minister advise if testing of water for lead has been undertaken for the King Edward Memorial Hospital in my electorate over the past 3 years and if so:
 - (a) When was this testing undertaken;
 - (b) What was the result of this testing; and
 - (c) What lead testing methodology was adopted for the KEMH for each of these tests?
- (10) If testing for lead in the water has not been undertaken for KEMH over the past 3 years is the Health department planning to do any testing in the next 12 months?
