 - (b) is marked substantially otherwise than in accordance with the instructions of the Returning Officer on, or in respect of, the ballot form; or
 - (c) does not bear the initials of the Returning Officer or a facsimile of those initials.
- (2) Where, during the scrutiny, the Returning Officer is informed by a scrutineer that the scrutineer objects to a ballot form being admitted as formal, or being rejected as informal, the Returning Officer must decide the matter and—
- (a) in the case of a postal voting ballot form, endorse their decision on the back of the ballot form; or
 - (b) in any other case, ensure that their decision is appropriately referenced to the ballot form.
- (3) The Returning Officer's determination whether a ballot form is formal or informal is to be final and conclusive.

5.5 Declaration and notification of election result

After the counting of votes has been completed, the Returning Officer must—

- (a) within 2 working days—declare the result of the election; and
- (b) as soon as practicable—

 - (ii) give written notice of the declaration and the number of votes received by each candidate to the Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor and each of the candidates; and

6.2 Election costs

- (1) All reasonable costs, charges and expenses incurred by the Returning Officer, a Deputy Returning Officer, or an employee acting on behalf of the Returning Officer or a Deputy Returning Officer, in connection with the conduct of an election, as certified in writing by the Returning Officer, are to be paid by the University, or reimbursed by the University to the Returning Officer, the Deputy Returning Officer or the employee, as the case may be.
- (2) The Returning Officer is to notify the Vice-Chancellor of all costs, charges and expenses certified under subsection (1).

6.3 Right of appeal

(4) The person conducting the appeal, after making whatever enquiries into the matter that they consider appropriate, is either—

- (a) to confirm the election result; or
- (b) to declare that the election is annulled and direct that a fresh election be held.

6.4 Giving documents

(1) If the Vice-Chancellor or the Returning Officer is required or permitted to give a document to an elector or any other person under this Statute, the document may be given—

- (a) by email or any other form of electronic transmission; or
- (b) in any of the other ways provided by sections 75 and 76 of the Interpretation Act 1984.

Note: Sections 75 and 76 of the Interpretation Act 1984 state—

75. Service of documents by post

(1) Where a written law authorises or requires a document to be served by post, whether the word “serve” or any of the words “give”, “deliver”, or “send” or any other similar word or expression is used, service shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing and posting (by pre-paid post) the document as a letter to the last known address of the person to be served, and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time when the letter would have been delivered in the ordinary course of post.

(2) Where a written law authorises or requires a document to be served by registered post, whether the word “serve” or any of the words “give”, “deliver”, or “send” or any other similar word or expression is used, then, if the document is eligible and acceptable for transmission as certified mail, the service of the document may be effected either by registered post or by certified mail.

(3) Subsections (1) and (2) apply unless the contrary intention appears and subsection (2) does not apply where a written law requires the production of an acknowledgment signed by a person to whom a document was addressed to the effect that the document was delivered to that person.

76. Service of documents generally

Where a written law authorises or requires a document to be served, whether the word serve or any of the words give, deliver, or send or any other similar word or expression is used, without directing it to be served in a particular manner, service of that document may be effected on the person to be served—

- (a) by delivering the document to them personally; or
- (b) by post in accordance with section 75(1) of the Interpretation Act 1984; or
- (c) by leaving it for them at their usual or last known place of abode or, if they are a principal of a business, at their usual or last known place of business; or
- (d) in the case of a corporation or of an association of persons (whether incorporated or not), by delivering or leaving the document or posting it as a letter, addressed in each case to the corporation or association, at its principal place of business or principal office in the State.’

(2) A document given by the Vice-Chancellor or the Returning Officer is not ineffective, nor is it to be regarded as having not been properly given, only because of an error, misdescription or irregularity in the document or the way it is addressed that is not likely to mislead or does not in fact mislead.

(3) An election is not to be invalidated by reason of an inadvertent failure to give an elector any document required by this Statute.
